

Reed-Borah Fight On Kellogg Treaty Brews in Senate

Idahoan Completes Exposition of Administration View of Document Intended To Outlaw War

PERSONALITIES PLAY BIG PART

Fiery Missouri Solon Expected To Launch Broadside at Effort He Says Renews Entanglements.

Washington, January 4.—(AP)—Before an inquiring membership, Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee, propounded the Kellogg peace pact on its way in the senate today in debate which became personal as well as conciliatory.

After three hours, during which he answered questions from all sides of the chamber, the sponsor of the treaty pledging the nations of the world to renounce war, summed up and answered the arguments made against the pact and called for early ratification of it in its present form.

Senator Reed, democrat, of Missouri, who is ready to lead the opposition and whose onslaught has been eagerly awaited by those wishing to see a Reed-Borah clash in debate, replied only briefly today with a reading of correspondence of the other nations. The Missourian has not begun his fight.

This correspondence showed that "many constructions have been placed upon the treaty and there is a dispute already as to its meaning."

Saturday Holiday Sidetracked.

With the contest in full swing leaders sidetracked the usual Saturday holiday and called for a meeting tomorrow.

Answering arguments against the treaty, which came largely in the form of inquiries during debate, Senator Borah contended that the treaty could not infringe upon the Monroe doctrine because the doctrine is a part of the American policy of self defense. He insisted the right of self defense was inherent in the treaty.

He contended the correspondence of other nations explaining their interpretation can have no bearing on the treaty because they merely deal with this question of self defense. Furthermore, he argued that Secretary Kellogg had made clear America's position on self defense in similar notes and speeches.

As for a demand upon this or any other nation to use force in punishing offending nations, Senator Borah declared there was no provision in the treaty for such a step, implied or otherwise.

Millennium Not In Sight.

In the round of discussion there were frequent manifestations of belittlement of the effect of the treaty and Senator Borah himself remarked that he did not look for "the dawn of the millennium" through acceptance of the pact.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, said the value of

AMERICAN BRIDE POTENTIAL QUEEN OF NEW KINGDOM

Stockholm, January 4.—(AP)—The possibility of an American queen for a new monarchy which is being talked of through the union of three Baltic states has been suggested by dispatches to Swedish newspapers from Riga. These state that there has been an intense propaganda during the past month in favor of the establishment of a monarchy in Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania united under one king.

In Estonia there is a move reported in favor of electing Prince Folke Bernadotte, of Sweden, king of the "Baltic States." It is recalled that the prince recently was married to Miss Estelle Manville, of Pleasantville, N. Y., which, in the event of his selection, would give the proposed new state an American girl as queen.

Pair Held in Macon Identified By Victims in Holdups Here

Arrested earlier this week after a spectacular chase at Macon the two young men pictured above Friday were identified as the two youths who perpetrated a series of holdups here. Their photographs were positively identified by H. E. Lupo, clerk in the recently robbed National Shirt Shop at 346 Marietta street, and H. R. Hudgins, manager of the A&P store at 1144 Piedmont avenue. The man in the right gives his name as Joe Harvey Harris while the other says he is Fred H. Thomas. A wrist watch and wallet taken from Lupo was found in Harris' pockets.

Following identification of a wrist watch, found on one of two men held in Macon on suspicion of robbery, as that taken from a clerk in the National Shirt company store here along with $700 in cash from the company safe Friday virtually assured Chief of Detectives Lamar Poole that the two boys held were perpetrators of the local holdups.

The men, who gave their names as Fred Howard Thomas, 20, of Trinitad, Colo., and Joe Harvey Harris, 25, of Augusta, denied any knowledge of the robbery.

A letter received Friday by Chief Poole from the Macon chief of police said one of the suspects was wearing a watch bearing the same serial number as that which was taken from H. E. Lupo, clerk in the shirt shop, and that engraving on it corresponded

U. S. SHIP SAILS ON PAST ALL RECORDS

Metropolitan Airport, Los Angeles, January 4.—(AP)—The army monoplane Question Mark had completed 89 hours of continuous flight in her refueling endurance test at 12:26:46 p. m., Pacific time.

The ship, which took off here on New Year's day at 7:26:46 a. m., has broken two major endurance records during four days of flight and tonight was approaching another record—that of longer sustained flight by heavier-than-air craft than by lighter-than-air craft.

The Question Mark became an exclamation point today.

This aeropunctuated feat was accomplished when the glinting yellow wings of the army's airplane of that weird cognomen had held it exultingly aloft longer than any such contrivance has ever remained continuously in the air before.

The five army officers manning the plane were flying over a course in southern California that reached from here to the Mexican border and another day of it will bring them up to the records set by the two famous dirigibles, Dixie and the Graf Zeppelin.

The Dixie remained in the air for 118 hours and the Graf Zeppelin for 111. If those records are beaten it will mean that for the first time in history a heavier-than-air machine has remained in sustained flight longer than a lighter-than-air craft, something once believed impossible.

The two world records now held by the Question Mark are the longest refueling flight and the endurance flight record for heavier-than-air machines. The refueling record was broken at 9:33 o'clock last night when the army plane exceeded by one hour the record of 60 hours and 7 minutes held in Belgium. The sustained flight record of 65 hours and 25 minutes, held in Germany, was beaten by an hour at 12:52 a. m. today, at which time the Question Mark had been in the air 66 hours and 25 minutes. The old records must be broken by an hour to stand.

An air tour of 5,400 miles was the unofficial estimated mileage of the Question Mark at its eighty-fourth hour—a distance equal to that from San Francisco to Yokohama. The estimate was based on an assumed average of 65 miles an hour, which army officials stated undoubtedly was lower than the actual speed of the ship.

During the next 12 hours the monoplane was to circle above the airport here, and the guards tonight were posted to keep constant lookout for signal flares, indicating that messages were expected to be dropped by Major or Carl Spatz, commanding officer on the plane.

Lincoln, Neb., January 4.—(AP)—The Nebraska supreme court today affirmed the district court decision which ordered the return of $2,000,000 transferred from assets of the Woodmen of the World, a fraternal life insurance association, to the Globe Life Insurance company, some of whose officers are also officers of the W. O. W.

Frank E. Feltz, Charles Bowen and B. Price, the plaintiffs and all members of the W. O. W., charged that the transfer of funds was "illegal and fraudulent."

They will arrive in Atlanta Sunday morning from where the body is to be taken by auto to Carrollton, Ga., for burial the same day. Funeral services will be held at Carrollton at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

The parade will form at the Terminal station immediately after the arrival of the Tech team at 8:40 o'clock and proceed down Mitchell to Whitehall street, through Whitehall and Peachtree to Baker, and into West Peachtree to North avenue, where the military units will line up and the players pass in motor cars on to the Tech campus.

The Tech band will head the parade. Following will be the Tech R. O. T. C. units, army and navy, the

Lawrence, Greatest Spy, Sought in Afghanistan

Alahabad, India, January 4.—(United News.)—Afghan authorities have ordered the arrest of Colonel Thomas E. Lawrence, famous British adventurer and army officer, on the belief that he has been assisting rebels in the present uprising to cross the frontier, according to advices received here tonight.

Lawrence, known as "Lawrence of Arabia" because of his war-time adventures, was described by authorities as "the arch spy of the world."

Photographs, supposed to be of Lawrence, were distributed among Afghan army commanders.

It was reported from Delhi that rumors were current concerning plans for the fresh assault of Kabul, capital of the Afghanistan, which was successfully defended recently by government troops when insurgents attacked. The rebel tribesmen revolted against King Amanullah's reform laws.

The brigand leader, Bacha Sakao, was said to be collecting a fresh force of insurgents for a march on Kabul. The insurgents were reported better armed than the government troops.

Apparently the situation has taken a serious turn. The Quetta telegraph line had been cut and only wireless communication with Kabul remained.

The escape of Mohammed Omar Khan, aspirant for the throne of Afghanistan, from Alahabad added to the complexity of the situation. Omar Khan had been retained here by British authorities.

TO HANG OR NOT IS LEGAL TANGLE FACING SHERIFF

Presiding Justice of Supreme Court Voted Down Four to One, But Says He Is Supreme.

SANITY HEARING REFUSED BY COURT

Last-Minute Effort To Save Doomed Lovers Creates Strangest Snarl in State's History.

New Orleans, January 4.—(AP)—The hanging of Mrs. Ada Bonner Lehoucq and Dr. Thomas E. Dreher, scheduled for tomorrow at Franklin, became cloaked in legal uncertainty tonight when Chief Justice Charles A. O'Neill, of the Louisiana supreme court, granted a stay of execution and four justices of the supreme court ruled that the hanging could be carried out. The four justices, constituting a majority of the court, ordered the clerk of the court to inform Sheriff Charles Peot, of St. Mary parish, to proceed with the hanging. The chief justice, however, held that the state constitution empowered him to grant a stay of execution. Chief Justice O'Neill declared he had power to issue the writ over the majority of the court, while the four dissenting members, Justices Overton, Brunot, Rogers and Land, held that as a majority of the court their decision was final.

Sheriff Peot said tonight at Franklin that he would not act "until the supreme court gets through unwinding itself."

"I feel now I will not proceed with the execution tomorrow," the sheriff said.

Sheriff Peot issued another statement later, saying he would not definitely decide what his position would be until he received written orders from the supreme court tomorrow.

"I will make my decision tomorrow morning after the different writs are received," he said. "Until then I do not know what my position will be."

Sheriff Peot tonight telephoned Chief Justice O'Neill and said he had refused to hold up the hanging and ordered the sheriff to proceed with the executions in accordance with the writs of certiorari signed by Governor Long.

"Let me talk to the sheriff," interrupted the chief justice.

Sheriff Peot said he would tomorrow through the telephone. "One judge has the right to issue the writs and I will make my decision. I order that the execution be stayed."

The defense today received its second rebuff of the week when Judge James D. Simon, of the district court of St. Mary parish, before whom the original case was tried, denied application for appointment of a lunacy commission to determine the present sanity of the defendants and thereby postpone execution.

In denying the application for appointment of a commission, Judge Simon said:

45 STATES TO SUE U. S. FOR WAR TAX

Excise Collected in Three Years After Civil War Demanded Returned; Treasury To Fight.

Washington, January 4.—(United News.)—The treasury today started a fight to prevent states from suing the government for $200,000,000 for direct taxes collected in 1865, 1867 and 1868.

Every state, except Oklahoma and North and South Dakota, is interested in the matter, which is now before the house ways and means committee. Hearings were held on the bill today.

In the years directly following the civil war the government imposed direct taxes on manufacturers and raw materials and states now claim this was in direct violation of the constitution which prohibits all federal direct taxes except the income tax which required a constitutional amendment.

Assistant Secretary of Treasury Robert C. Vance, of Connecticut, the nearly decade-long row over the reapportionment of the membership of the house of representatives promises to reach the house floor again this session. A year ago the question was brought up in the house only to be sent back to committee for further consideration.

The development today was a favorable vote by the census committee to report the Fenn bill proposing reapportionment of the present membership of 435 upon the basis of the forthcoming 1930 census. The bill proposed that the census of 1930 be used in apportioning the house of representatives for the years 1931 to 1936.

While there were 20 separate and distinct articles taxed by the government in those years the tax was usually levied on the cotton tax and the south is greatly interested in any possible refunds.

Senator Stephens, Mississippi, democrat, one of the sponsors of the bill, said the proposition interests 45 states and that while the money to be refunded to the north would be larger than the south's proportion the "matter is one of justice and should be given every state."

Personal Property Is Given to Sons of Prominent Jeweler.

The will of the late Nat Kaiser, jeweler, who died Sunday at his home, 1117 St. Augustine place, was probated in common form Friday and an application was filed with the Fulton county ordinary for probate in solemn form. The document divides the estate in equal parts among his wife, Mrs. Ruth B. Kaiser; his sons, Irving B. Kaiser, Grover C. Kaiser, and Herbert Kaiser, and his daughter, Mrs. Helen Kaiser Schwab. No estimate of the value of the estate was given.

Mrs. Kaiser was willed all of the household furnishings, wearing apparel, automobiles, pictures, crockery and silverware, while Mr. Kaiser's personal jewelry was divided as follows: Grover Kaiser, a diamond solitaire ring; Robert W. Schwab, Jr., grandson, a diamond anchor scarf pin; Harold C. Wintz, step-son, a diamond and sapphire tie ring. In addition, Wintz receives $1,000 in cash. All other personal jewelry was left to Herbert Kaiser.

One-fifth of the estate was vested in the Fourth National bank as trustee for Mrs. Kaiser, who is to draw the income until her death or until remarriage, when the portion is to go to the children in fee simple. One-fifth was vested in Herbert Kaiser as trustee for Irving Kaiser, who is to receive the income until his death, the portion then to go to Irving's beneficiaries. Fifths of the estate are left to Grover C. and Herbert Kaiser, and Mrs. Schwab in fee simple.

The will names Herbert Kaiser and Robert W. Schwab as executors without bond, and provides that 90 per cent of the net income of the estate is to be divided under terms of the will every four months. The proceeds of real estate, stocks, bonds, notes and other mortgages of which the Nat Kaiser Investment company is possessed, shall not be considered as part of the income to be divided, the will sets out. The will further provides that if any of the legatees or beneficiaries contest the will to defeat its purposes, the contestants shall be deprived of their legacies or benefits as provided in the will.

Nat L. Ullman, Mrs. Frank Boykin and Mrs. Homer Jenkins witnessed the will, which is dated October 27, 1927.

Coca-Cola Stockholders Given Right To Sell Back Part of Class A Holdings

Board of Directors Authorizes Issue of 1,000,000 Shares of Stock With No Par Value.

Simultaneously with the issue of one million shares of class A stock by the Coca-Cola company January 15 to all stockholders of record, there will be issued warrants, or certificates of purchase, which will enable the receivers of this stock to sell back one-fifth of their class A holdings to the company at $50 a share. It was announced Friday following a meeting of the board of directors January 3.

This issue of stock, as explained by A. A. Arkin, Coca-Cola company official, has no par value and will pay yearly dividends of $3 a share. The warrants, he stated, represent an agreement on the part of the company to redeem 20 per cent of the issue at $50 a share, allowing the stockholders a cash dividend, the amount to be determined by the number of shares held, one share of class A being distributed for each share of the common stock.

Fixes Market Value.

One of the directors of the Coca-Cola company in making Friday that this procedure also fixes a market value of the class A stock, since it has no par value. It also was stated that this new stock will be listed on the exchange as class A Coca-Cola, and that it was neither a common nor preferred stock, but a "prior preference" stock which has a priority of claim to the dividends ahead of the common stock. The class A issue will have no voting power.

Issue Authorized.

The statement of the action taken at this meeting was made public Friday as follows:

"The board of directors of the Coca-Cola company in meeting here Thursday authorized the company to issue, simultaneously with the issue of the class A stock previously authorized by the stockholders, warrants giving to stockholders the right to sell to the company one-fifth of the class A stock at $50 per share.

"One warrant, or certificate of purchase, will be issued with each certificate of class A stock and will be made out to bearer. This warrant gives to each stockholder the right of sale to the company, but is in no sense a call for the stock.

"According to the action of the recent stockholders' meeting, one million shares of class A stock will be issued, to the common stockholders of record at the close of business January 15, 1935, such distribution to be made on January 20, 1935.

The warrants will be issued at the same time and will provide for the presentation of the class A stock for purchase by the company from time of issue until close of business March 10, 1935.

SAVANNAH VETS HEAR GEORGIA CHIEF SPEAK

Disabled Men Are Visited by Their Commander, Frank R. Fling.

Savannah, Ga., January 4.—(AP)—State Commander Frank R. Fling, of Atlanta, Ga., disabled veterans' head, is visiting Savannah chapter No. 8 tonight for the first time since being elected in June last.

Commander Fling discussed the inability which veterans have so often experienced in securing their service records from Washington and recommended that further efforts be made to secure right of access to them. He said there had been some decrease in membership in Georgia since the last state convention, but was gratified at the attendance at the meeting tonight.

The 1929 state convention of disabled veterans will be held in Savannah in June.

PAN-AMERICAN MEET CLOSES IN SUCCESS

Washington, January 4.—(AP)—The Pan-American conference on arbitration and conciliation, representing 20 American republics, today formally approved drafts of multilateral arbitration and conciliation treaties looking to the settlement of all future international differences in the western hemisphere by peaceful means.

The treaties are expected to be signed by the various delegations and the conference will adjourn after sitting continuously since December 10.

Approves Special Report.

The conference today at a plenary session also approved a report from its special committee charged with promoting conciliation of the Bolivian-Paraguayan dispute. It further adopted a resolution expressing appreciation for the manner in which its good offices had been accepted and voiced the hope that the special conciliating commission, created under the conciliation protocol signed yesterday by delegates from Bolivia and Paraguay, would begin its labors as soon as possible.

Motions Are Unanimous.

All motions were carried unanimously. The treaties were approved with no debate whatever. After Ambassador Ferrara, of Cuba, had read the report of the special Paraguayan committee, Secretary of State Kellogg, who was presiding, dispensed with the usual procedure of asking a vote on whether the report should be approved and invited instead "all delegates to express their approval by standing up."

Delegates were enthusiastic over the results of the conference. The success of the office of the officers in the Paraguayan-Bolivian dispute, although the most dramatic event, was held to be no more important than the treaties negotiated to express their approval by standing up.

Opposition to the treaty cropped from the republican side early in the day when Senator McLean, of Connecticut, a republican member of the foreign relations committee, said that Secretary Kellogg had failed to specify that this nation did not regard the doctrine as infringing upon the Monroe doctrine.

The recent Paraguayan-Bolivian dispute came up for discussion when Senator Glass, democrat, of Virginia, asked if interference in that controversy by the league of nations would have constituted violation of the Monroe doctrine.

Senator Borah expressed the view that it would not because it would have been an effort by foreign powers to establish peace between South American countries and not to establish their own governments in this hemisphere.

M'NUTT DECLARES FOR CRUISER BILL IN MACON TALK

Macon, Ga., January 4.—(AP)—With two great measures—the multilateral treaty and the cruiser bill—before the American people, the cruiser bill comes first, declared Paul V. McNutt, national commander of the American Legion, in an address here tonight at the mid-winter conference of the legion of Georgia. He termed the treaty "merely a friendly gesture."

"While both bills ought to be passed, a treaty can not support a people now defend its property—it may save off war, but not for long," he declared. "The cruiser bill ought to be passed first, the friendly gesture next—then it will have some significance."

The local conference took the form of a banquet at a local hotel, with members of the Joe Neel, Jr., post and a score of visiting legionnaires in attendance. Mr. McNutt arrived here by automobile just before the banquet.

Mrs. Boyce Ficklen, Jr., of Washington, Ga., national president of the American Legion auxiliary, and Mrs. P. I. Dixon, of Thomasville, Ga., state president, were among the speakers. Among the other speakers, introduced by General Walter A. Harris, master of ceremonies, were Joe Carr, state adjutant; Frank E. Samuel, assistant to the national adjutant; Major M. S. Eddy, of Riverside Military academy; and Louis S. Moore, commander of the Georgia department of the legion.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 o'clock this morning at the chapel of Blanchard and Hart company, with burial in Greenwood. The Rev. J. Christie will be in charge. The deceased is survived by his widow and his father, Harry Haslam, of Scranton, Pa.

PLAN BIG DRIVE ON RUM TO MAKE CAPITAL DRY

Washington, January 4.—(AP)—A ten-week war on bootleggers and speakeasies to make the national capital an "example" to the cities of the country will be launched in Washington next Sunday.

The campaign will be waged under the auspices of the national capital committee for law enforcement with the purpose of preparing "the national capital for the incoming administration" by a list of speakers and close them on penalty of losing their jobs within a week.

Dr. Clinton N. Howard, of Rochester, N. Y., who is in charge of the campaign, announced that he had pledged the cooperation of the Washington Ministers' association. He will initiate the onslaught on the liquor sellers at a meeting on Sunday at the First Congregational church.

GEORGIA FOREST SERVICE LAUNCHES DRIVE BY MOVIES

With a view to aiding in conservation of Georgia's forest resources, the Georgia forest service, in conjunction with the American Forestry association, Friday launched its "education by movie" campaign in the Fulton county schools.

Within the next 15 days, it was announced by C. B. Beale, unit director of the Georgia forest service, a truck carrying the projecting machines and films will visit nearly two score rural and about 15 city schools in Fulton county. At each of these films, illustrating the devastation wrought by forest fires will be shown and short lectures will be given by Mr. Beale.

The truck, Mr. Beale stated, is one of two units operating in the state. The two units will visit each school in the state during the coming year and will repeat the visits during 1936 with a slightly varied program continuing this procedure over a three-year period.

The work is being financed, for the greater part, by the American Forestry association, with the assistance of the state forestry department and the State College of Agriculture.

The films will be shown before groups of Boy Scouts and members of the Y. M. C. A. and will be offered before an civic bodies with which contact can be made, Mr. Beale stated. Assisting Mr. Beale as technical director is R. R. Ozmer.

The couple are wanted in several Massachusetts and Connecticut cities on similar charges. Both pleaded guilty.

SMITH ULTIMATUM TO PHOTOGRAPHERS MARKS QUIET DAY

New York, January 4.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith, Gov., sat in a cozy office on Madison avenue and delivered a brief ultimatum. It was to the newspaper photographers.

"Boys," said the man who used to be governor, "this is the last chance you're going to get. You'd better make the most of it."

The former governor explained his ultimatum saying that he no longer has in public life and had been retired from official life last Tuesday that he almost dreaded the sight of a camera.

The new Smith office, with paneled walls of mission oak and Spanish stucco ceiling is part of the private suite of his old friend, William R. English. To Mr. Smith as governor, was wanted to retire whenever, during his frequent New York sojourns, he wanted a secret refuge in which to prepare a speech or attend to personal business.

BANDITS GET $115 IN THREE HOLDUPS

More than $115 was obtained by white and negro bandits in three holdups in Atlanta early Friday night.

Louise Scheuer, proprietor of a grocery store, 80 Electric avenue, reported the loss of $70 to two negro bandits who entered her store as she was preparing to close for the day.

The young negro was in the store at the time the robbery was committed, Scheuer said, but the thieves ignored them.

J. E. Barnes, 1030 Barnes street, driver for the Liberty Laundry company, was held up on Lafayette drive, near Barksdale street, by two negroes who robbed him of $28 in receipts. Barnes told officers that he had just come out of a customer's house and was approaching his truck when the thieves stopped him.

Charles McNear, negro messenger boy for a Jacobs' drug store, reported the loss of $19.50 to two white thieves who stopped him as he was delivering an order. According to clerks at the store a small order was delivered from a West Peachtree address.

NASHVILLE DOCTOR SHOOTS HIMSELF, DYING INSTANTLY

Nashville, Tenn., January 4.—(AP)—Dr. E. B. Cayce, prominent Nashville ear, nose and throat specialist, shot himself in his home here at 11 o'clock this morning and died instantly.

It is thought that the nervous strain under which Dr. Cayce had been laboring recently, incident to his large practice, was the cause.

Dr. Cayce slept well Thursday night, according to members of his family, and showed no indications of an intention to end his life. He left his home at his usual time this morning and made several calls. Returning to his residence shortly before 11 o'clock, he secured the weapon, went into the bathroom and shot himself with a shotgun, pulling the trigger with his toe.

Professional calls upon him during the past two weeks had necessitated his working day and night, it was said at his office.

Dr. Cayce had been practicing medicine in Nashville since 1913. He secured his degree from the University of Nashville medical school and later spent nine months in Vienna.

The British embassy has notified officials that the cadets will arrive in San Francisco January 18 and after visiting various sections of this country and Canada will come to Washington about March 1. They will be quartered during part of their visit at the navy yard.

EFFORTS TO TRADE KEYS FOR BREAD RESULT IN ARREST

His attempt to trade a bunch of keys for a loaf of bread in a local market and his subsequent manifestations of disapproval at the refusal of the clerk to barter led to the arrest Friday night of J. L. Bruce, of a Byron drive address, on drunk and disorderly charges, according to police reports.

According to accounts given Call Officers Carroll and Harper, Bruce entered a market at 529 Peachtree and walking up to the clerk, A. A. Hardin, proffered a large bunch of keys in exchange for a loaf of bread. When Hardin stated that the establishment did a cash business Bruce protested violently and had to be shown from the store, it was stated.

Apparently enraged by his rejection at the market Bruce is said to have continued his tempestuous way along Peachtree street making several attempts to start fights with pedestrians. His conduct soon led to his arrest. He is held in default of $100 bond.

LEADERS OF DEKALB PLANNING AIRPORT

DeKalb, Ga., January 4.—(Special.)—DeKalb county civic leaders are agitating for the establishment of an airport in DeKalb county and plans are now underway for a suitable location.

Leaders here have expressed the opinion that Atlanta will be one of the airline centers of the country. They contend, however, that DeKalb county is most suitable for a field location.

Colonel W. E. Wimpey, one of the leaders favoring the airport project, believes that such a field would better mail service for northern states.

"We are approximately 25 to 30 miles nearer New York city than the present landing field," Colonel Wimpey points out. "The elevation in DeKalb county is several hundred feet higher which is decided advantage in landing and taking off."

SHIPS MAY DROP MAIL ONTO NEW POSTOFFICE

Postmaster Large Hopes That Building Will Provide Direct Receiving Place.

That Atlanta's new federal building, which Washington dispatches stated Thursday has been approved, will be of an ultra-modern type of architecture which will permit the receiving of mail from airplanes in motion, was the hope expressed Friday by Postmaster E. K. Large. This would mean a specially-constructed roof which would allow the various mail planes which make Atlanta their terminal to swoop low while en route to Candler field, drop their mail and thus greatly speed delivery, he explained.

"While I have not yet been informed officially that definite arrangements for the new building have been made," Mr. Large said, "I feel certain that it will be built and the provisions for receiving airmail directly from the plane would be a sensible and almost necessary development in the handling of such mail. In addition to this steps probably will be taken for the more rapid handling of air mail within the building as the increase of this type of mail within the past few months indicates that it is the coming vogue."

Mr. Large said that his unofficial information was to the effect that the building would be constructed on the property west of the Spring street viaduct and north of the terminal station.

All records of the local postoffice were broken during the week from December 17 to 24, when receipts totaled $166,877.75, the postmaster said. These figures representing more than a 20 per cent increase over the same period in 1927.

Showers Seen For City Today; Clear Sunday

Showers accompanied by slightly rising temperatures in the weather meant indicated for today by the forecast of C. E. Hermann, head of the local United States weather bureau. A rapidly falling barometer Friday afternoon pointed to a bit of dampness beginning early this morning. Mr. von Hermann said, adding that as usual a disturbance in Texas was the cause of the change of the perfect conditions which prevailed here Friday. It will just be a light rain, he stated, but probably will be general all over the state. Probability of a clear Sabbath was indicated.

Temperatures Friday ranged from a minimum of 36 up to 55 in the afternoon and today's extremes are expected to be 38 and 58.

FERTILIZER RATE HEARING IS HELD BY FREIGHT BODY

Representatives of fertilizer companies and interested carriers met with the rate committee of the Southern Freight association Friday in a conference regarding a revision of freight rates on imported fertilizers and fertilizer materials from southern Atlantic, Virginia and the West Indies. The proposed rate changes follow a revision made by the interstate commerce commission about a year ago. No action was taken at Friday's conference, which was held to give interested parties an opportunity to express their views on the proposed changes. It is expected that committee hearings will be held within the next few weeks, according to members of the Southern Freight association.

Baldwin County To Fight For Replacement of Bridge

WILKINSON ALSO TO AID PLANS FOR NEW SPAN

Milledgeville, Ga., January 4.—(Special.)—Citizens of Baldwin and Wilkinson counties are up in arms about the failure of the state highway department to replace the bridge over Camp creek, about four miles south of Milledgeville on the Milledgeville-Irwin-Dublin highway, route 20. The bridge was washed away by floods last summer.

A temporary swinging wooden bridge was placed near the old site. It is reached by a detour. The temporary bridge has become very dangerous for travel, it is claimed. Rural mail carriers and school trucks, in addition to heavy public travel, cross the bridge daily and parents of school children are alarmed over the danger. The matter is being brought to the attention of highway officials this week.

Attorneys have been engaged for the purpose of bringing court proceedings to seek to force the repairing of the bridge if other efforts are unavailing.

NEW YORK POLICE RAID NETS MANY CRIMINALS

New York, January 4.—(Special.)—Another sortie by Police Commissioner Whelan's liquor raiders caused more than 50 speakeasy proprietors to be in jail today. Fifty places were raided Wednesday night and 50 last night. The first four of poolrooms and other hideouts of crooks and gangsters by the newly revived "strong-arm" squads brought out the fact that underworld characters known to the police had deserted their usual haunts.

The Manhattan squads visited places on the Bowery, in Chinatown and along the wharves, then swung up into the midtown white light district without finding any of the undesirable who had been instructed to drive out. But in one place the squad detected a strong-arm racket.

The detectives entered a basement resort in West Fifty-first street, searched and questioned patrons and ordered them out. Then after seizing a quantity of liquor, they wrecked the place. Crowbars and axes were used to smash the bar, furniture, mirrors and chandeliers.

This was the second place demolished in the campaign against "crime-breeding speakeasies." A place in Greenwich Village was wrecked in a similar raid Wednesday night.

Members of the liquor raiding squads concentrated their activities in Harlem, where about two-thirds of the raids were made. In each instance police confiscated supplies of liquor.

Commissioner Whelan announced he would avail himself of the court of appeals yesterday when it ruled that speakeasies violated the state nuisance law. Proceedings against liquor houses in places under the nuisance law would permit taking cases into the state courts as well as federal.

The commissioner said the drive against so-called "smokehouses," places where low grade or poisonous liquor is sold, would be continued until the city had been rid of all crime-breeding places.

Failure of the "strong-arm" men to find gangsters last night was regarded by police officials as confirmation of reports that crooks and other undesirable were leaving the city for Chicago and other points.

RIVAL SALVATION ARMY CAMPS PLAN WAR

London, January 4.—(Special.)—Both camps of the Salvation army were busy today planning strategy in advance of what is already being called the "Battle of Sunbury," which is to begin when the rival camps of the organization meet there next Tuesday.

London newspapers said that the followers of General Bramwell Booth, who faces the possibility of being deposed as commander-in-chief, have prepared a bombshell to be hurled into the ranks of the reform element, led by Commander Evangeline Booth, of the United States. Some interpreted this to mean that the general would resign when the council convenes, thus forestalling a vote declaring him physically unfit to continue in office. But this was not confirmed at international headquarters. One prominent official there said:

"If the general has made any such decision, we have heard nothing about it."

Against the resignation report an American Miss Booth's party pointed out that this course would veto the general's right to choose his successor, something to which his family has long been an inalienable prerogative of the commander-in-chief. The same commentator also argued that a resignation would throw away the general's chance of being adjudicated fit to carry on. In the latter event the council would be automatically dissolved and his nomination of a successor would stand.

Another theory as to the purposes of the General Booth faction is that he intends to make a personal appearance at the high council meeting. Unless, however, reports of his illness have been exaggerated, such a dramatic move would be unlikely. One of his supporters, however, admitted that if the council sits long enough, the general might sufficiently recovered to attend a meeting if he were summoned to Sunbury.

Bill Would Increase Penalty for Violation Of Prohibition Act

Washington, January 4.—(Special.)—Repeated violations of the prohibition law would draw increased penalties under a proposed amendment to the act introduced today by Representative Swank, democrat, Oklahoma.

First convictions would bring a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $10,000, with a sentence of not less than one month nor more than five years. A second conviction, while not changing the amount of the fine to be imposed, would fix the minimum sentence at six months and the maximum at 10 years.

Upon a third conviction a sentence of not less than five years would be imposed, the fine limitations remaining as fixed for first convictions.

U. S. DEFICIENCY BILL CALLS FOR $84,128,310

Washington, January 4.—(Special.)—Since 1917 the government has refunded $975,012,356 of taxes illegally or erroneously collected.

In the same time $4,619,200 has been collected as additional or back taxes, as well as those assessed in the ordinary course of events.

These computations were included today in the report submitted to the house by its appropriations committee with the first deficiency bill, which said that the total refunded was approximately 2.3 per cent of the $38,715,757,522 of the internal revenue receipts for the period.

The bill itself sought to provide $84,128,310 to meet the emergency expenses for the current fiscal year, including $75,000,000 for tax refunds.

The total is $66,705 less than that recommended by the bureau.

A total of $500,000 would be used for carrying on the government's contract air mail service; $1,650,000 would go toward construction of new barracks at the Pacific branch of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers at Santa Monica, Calif.; $450,000 for the inauguration of a new district elect Hoover, and $300,000 for aiding Indian influenza victims of the southwest.

The $205,000,000 would be required to meet all refunds this year, the committee reported that $43,000,000, or more than 20 per cent, was on account of interest.

In connection with the tax refund item, the committee which framed the measure declared that while $130,000,000 was made available for this purpose this fiscal year, refunds for the first five months had been at the rate of approximately $15,000,000 a month, and with the approval last month of $25,000,000 claim by the United States Steel corporation, a total of $205,000,000 would be required to meet all refunds this year.

It was pointed out that the $26,000,000 refund could be taken care of by a $48,000,000 expected balance in current funds, but since this would reduce the funds available for refunds to $22,000,000 and leave enough to provide for only one and one-half months' expenditure, the treasury would exhaust such funds early in February.

Under the law the refund to the steel corporation, which was approved December 8, last, must be held 30 days after statement of the case had been transmitted to the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation. Payment, therefore, may be made tomorrow.

Of the $205,000,000 to be required for refunds this year, the committee reported that $43,000,000, or more than 20 per cent, was on account of interest.

Collects Interest.

In this connection, the report said, it should be borne in mind that the government also collects interest from taxpayers on back taxes and that for the first quarter of this fiscal year, the interest was $12,000,000 as against $8,000,000 paid out.

As for the air mail item of $500,000, the committee pointed out that all contractors operators now were making profits, many of them excessive, which contributed "in some measure" to the widespread feeling of discontent.

The committee declared that with the large volume of mail now carried by air under the reduced postage rates, the government was operating at a 50 per cent loss and that unless the contractors were paid less and postage increased, the service would never pay for itself.

"This is a matter which congress should consider at no very distant time," the report said, "and either determine or indicate whether the present policy involving such a large loss is desired to be continued or changed by the postoffice department."

S MOKE AND SOOT SEEN AS MENACING CHICAGO STATUES

Chicago, January 4.—(Special.)—Chicago's outdoor statues don't mind the weather, which has been terrible lately, but smoke and soot are steadily getting the best of them.

Robert E. Harshe, director of the Art institute, in answer to many inquiries, today explained the ugly green coating which mars the bronze figures in the city's parks.

"Gases and soot in the air eat the bronze," he said. "Eliminate them and our outdoor works of art will not become hideous."

When Colonel Lindbergh lived at the Longley home, Miss Longley often assisted in preparing his breakfast, and occasionally she played the piano for him. She is 18 years old.

"LINDY'S GIRL," WED ON NEW YEAR'S, OFF ON HONEYMOON

Chicago, January 4.—(Special.)—"Lindy's Girl," as they used to call her, Longley in Maywood, Ill., is Mrs. Harold Knoop now.

The pretty brown-eyed daughter of the Albert Longley, at whose home Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh roomed when he was just plain "Slim" of the air mail, was married New Year's day.

Mr. and Mrs. Knoop were to drive by automobile Saturday to Cleveland, Ohio, where they will make their home.

When Colonel Lindbergh lived at the Longley home, Miss Longley often assisted in preparing his breakfast, and occasionally she played the piano for him. She is 18 years old.

Canadian Farm Hand Is Hanged For Double Killing

Barrie, Ont., January 4.—George O'Neil, farm hand, was hanged in the jail here shortly after midnight for the murder of his 72-year-old employer and the latter's daughter. No motive had ever been established for the crime.

The bodies of Azor Robertson and his daughter, Mrs. Ruby Martin, were found in the ruins of the Robertson barn after a fire last February. The prosecution declared that although no motive had been established it had proved O'Neil had fired the barn after saturating the straw or Mrs. Martin's body with oil.

O'Neil at his trial said he had left Robertson ill at the barn and had gone to secure help from Mrs. Martin. When he returned, he said, he found the building in flames. Robertson's skull was found to have been fractured and his body bore signs of violence.

CITY IMPROVEMENTS TOTAL $2,823,348.28

Detailed Report Submitted by Divisions of Construction Department.

Total of public improvements completed and paid for during 1928 under the supervision of the city construction department totaled $2,823,348.28, according to a detailed report submitted Friday to the mayor's office by the streets, bridges, sidewalks and sewers divisions.

The report was filed by attaches of the office of William A. Hansell, retiring chief of construction.

Expenditure for bridges was the largest single item, reaching $1,221,723.15, of which $4,622.06 was spent for repairs of various bridges and the remainder in prosecution of construction of the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts; $346,775.32 for widening and grading of streets, alterations to buildings incident to the widening, for Candler aviation field, etc.; $63,389.26 for sanitary improvements; $626,281 for street paving; $196,918.59 for laying sidewalks, gutters and curbing, and $367,696.36 for sewer construction.

Repairs to Bridges.

C. E. Kauffmann, bridge engineer, pointed out that repairs had been made to the Pryor street, Macdonough road and Washington street bridges. He also stated detailed plans have been perfected for replacement of the Mitchell street bridge, closed for about 11 months to traffic because of bad condition, which the department felt made it "unsafe for traffic."

Among street widening, regrading and repaving projects listed are Peters street, which will furnish an important traffic artery from the center of the city to the western and southern sections of the city, from Bartow to North avenue, and Courtland street. Plans have been perfected for elimination of the "bottle neck" on Peachtree street between Baker and Ivy streets. Extension of Broad street from Mitchell street through to Peachtree is recommended.

West Peachtree Repaving.

Repaving of West Peachtree street from North avenue to Sixth street is one of the most important street paving jobs done in the city last year, according to the report of the department filed by W. J. Greff, assistant in charge of the department. Fulton county removed the wood blocks and it was repaved with sheet asphalt on a concrete base.

Total amount of paving work done by the city was set at $173,814.32, and Fulton county did $332,406.08 worth of work inside the city.

Other important street projects were Peachtree drive, Bartow, Berne, Fifteenth, Jefferson, Fowler, Davis, Durant, Glenwood, Kennedy, Central, Kimball, Lakewood, Luckie and Milton.

Sewers constructed by that department during the year under the supervision of M. R. Hall, assistant in charge, totaled 10,635 miles at a cost of $367,989.06.

Of these, 5,078 miles were large storm and disposal sewers constructed from bond funds at a cost of $305,733.43, while the remaining 5,557 miles were laterals, connections costing $6,411.88.

Work reported by H. A. Knapp, assistant in charge of sidewalks, gutters and curbing was as follows: Granite curbing, 22,02 miles, costing $87,251.28; concrete curbing, 1,38 miles, costing $3,647; concrete sidewalks, 17.75 miles, costing $85,650.04; tile sidewalks, 0.38 mile, costing $1,665.49; concrete curbing, 3.87 miles, costing $18,004.78; total, $196,918.59.

'Grand Old Man' GIRL'S AGED ABDUCTOR; Of Georgia Tech STILL EVADES SEARCH Lauds Grid Team

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

When Georgia Tech kicked California's Bears at Pasadena on New Year's day, the victory made former Governor Nat E. Harris feel so good that he hopped out of bed, where he has been confined with illness, and tried to pick up the bed and walk off with it, according to news received Friday.

"The Father of Tech," as he has been called, is spending the season at his winter home at Orange, Fla. In a letter to The Constitution, the "old man" extends his congratulations to the members of the Tech team for the "splendid victory in California."

Governor Harris is chairman of the board of trustees of Georgia Tech and introduced the bill in the state legislature which, when passed, founded that institution.

"I want to state in The Constitution that the old chairman is desirous of congratulating the Tech boys on their splendid victory in California," he wrote. "I send them all my heart's best wishes. I have been sick in bed for four weeks, but the victory almost made me well. It was to me unexpected, but very glorious."

Former Governor Harris was born in Tennessee, but moved to Georgia at an early age. He served in the Confederate army and after the war located at Macon, where he engaged in law and also in other business enterprises. He served in the state legislature as representative from Bibb county and during this service he introduced and aided in passing the bill which created Georgia Tech. He became a member of the board of trustees and has served in this post since the institution was founded. He served as governor of Georgia in 1914 and 1915 and it was during his administration that the state-wide prohibition laws were passed.

After his retirement as governor he became active in private business enterprises and as chairman of the board of trustees of Georgia Tech. In spite of his age he has been a regular attendant at meetings of the board and takes a keen interest in the progress of the institution.

Doris Turner Still Confined to Her Home Under Care of a Physician.

While Doris Turner, 16-year-old Hoke Smith Junior High school student, who disappeared Thursday night after being missing two days, continued to be confined to her home under care of a physician Friday night, the police were unable to find any trace of the "old man with a cane," who, the girl says, abducted her Wednesday morning and held her a prisoner until late Thursday afternoon.

Members of the Turner family said that Doris was showing no ill effects from her experience, save fatigue. The family physician has ordered a week's rest, the girl's mother, Mrs. O. L. Turner, of 812 Boulevard, S. E., said.

The girl was unable to give an accurate description of her alleged abductor, but the police are looking for the man, believed to be between 50 and 60 years old, who, Doris and fellow Hoke Smith girl students say, has been seen in the vicinity of the school on numerous occasions.

EX-SENATOR ENNIS

AGAIN IS AWARDED

AUTO LICENSE NO. 1

Former State Senator J. Howard Ennis, of Milledgeville, again will operate his automobile under Georgia license tag No. 1, as this number has been awarded him by the secretary of state, it was learned Friday. Captain Ennis has held this number for many years. Tag No. 13, which has been used by James D. Weaver, of Iowa, was given to Mr. Ennis this year because of a new system of classification. It was found that No. 13 was in a class different from that of the car owned by Mr. Weaver. The supposed unlucky number was awarded to J. W. Anderson, of Atlanta.

Many automobile owners sent in their applications several weeks ago in order to obtain low or special tag numbers they have been using for several years.

Mme. Sun-Yat-Sen

Will Attend Burial

Of Husband in China

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Madame Sun-Yat-Sen, graduate of Wesleyan college, Macon, and widow of the first president of China, has been booked by travel agents for a lecture tour of the south in order to attend the burial of her husband in China.

She already has sailed for the Orient, it was announced Friday at the office of Russell Bridges, her southern booking agent, and has given no indication when she will return to the United States. The body of her late husband, who died a number of months ago, has been held in a special vault according to Chinese custom, Mr. Bridges said.

Madame Sun-Yat-Sen made many friends in Georgia and in the south while a student at Wesleyan. Returning to China she took active part in political affairs after her marriage to Dr. Sun-Yat-Sen. She has served on the political, military and central executive committees of the Chinese nationalist party. She has expressed belief that ultimate peace for China lies in the present Chinese revolution.

Her social activities in her country include founding of the Institute for Political Education for Chinese Women.

Cuba Affords Market

For Georgia Melons

And Textiles, Says Gress

Cuba affords a great and hitherto undeveloped market for Georgia watermelons, peaches and textile products, according to T. R. Gress, assistant attorney-general, who has returned from an official inspection trip of that island made in behalf of the bureau of markets.

Mr. Gress said Cuban people cannot understand why they should be forced to go to New England for cheese, cloth and other textile manufactures in Georgia and to go to South America to obtain peaches, when these products are found much nearer in the state of Georgia. Plans to develop this trade territory will be worked out by the bureau of markets, according to Mr. Gress.

INSPECTOR SAYS

IT'S WONDERFUL

"Sargon Proved Its Real Worth in My Case," Says S. A. Legg; Regrets He Didn't Have It Long Ago

"It is wonderful the good Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills did me in a short time, and from now on I never intend to be without them."

"About seven years ago I became badly debilitated and generally run-down. My strength and energy seemed to leave me almost entirely. Many times I had to force myself to go to work, and when I got on the job, I didn't seem to have strength enough to do the day's work. I felt weak, nervous and irritable. I knew my liver was out of order, because I always had a bad taste in my mouth in the mornings, and had mighty little appetite."

"Such a thing as going to bed and having a good, peaceful night's rest, was just about unknown to me. This had a lot to do with my feelings the next day, of course, and many a time I was tired out before I even began the day's work."

"My food didn't taste 'right.' It didn't make any difference what I had to eat. I didn't relish it, and nearly everything I ate disagreed with me, and I finally got where it didn't make much difference whether I ate anything or not."

"I was constipated nearly all the time. This made me bilious. I just felt weak and 'no good' to myself or anybody else. I tried all kinds of laxatives and treatments for constipation, and while I was all the time spending money, I never got anything but temporary relief."

"I started taking Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills, and I knew right after beginning them that I had found the right medicine at last."

Appetite Returns.

"My appetite came back with the first bottle. I commenced to eat and enjoy my meals, and I could eat as much as I wanted and anything I wanted. Nothing seemed to disagree with me any more. Then, I began to sleep fine at nights, and would get up in the mornings feeling fresh and good, and ready for a hard day's work. That old tired, worn-out feeling was entirely gone. I knew my liver was working right, because the bad taste in my mouth was gone, and I felt like a different man in every way."

"I tell you, it feels mighty good to have your energy back, so that you are ready for whatever comes up and have the strength to do it. Sargon has certainly proved its real worth in my case, and if I had started it sooner it would have saved me a lot of money and suffering."

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills are more than a laxative. They have ended my constipation, and have regulated me so that I am perfectly natural like I ought to be. There is no purging or sickness in their action, and they are different from anything I ever used. Their results in my case proved to me that they are in a class by themselves."

"A medicine has got to have merit, and a whole lot of it, to build a man back up, and give him the new strength and vigor that Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills have given me."

The above statement was recently made by S. A. Legg, of Hill street, Inman yards, Atlanta. Mr. Legg has been boiler inspector for the Southern railway for fourteen years, is a member of Atlanta Local No. 2, Boiler-makers Union of America, and is well-known and liked in the community in which he lives.

The Sargon representative can be found at Jacobs main store, 6 and 8 Marietta street, where hundreds call daily to learn more about this remarkable medicine. Sargon is also sold by the other Jacobs stores all over Atlanta.—(adv.)

"I tell you, it feels mighty good to have your energy back, so that you are ready for whatever comes up and have the strength to do it. Sargon has certainly proved its real worth in my case, and if I had started it sooner it would have saved me a lot of money and suffering."

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills are more than a laxative. They have ended my constipation, and have regulated me so that I am perfectly natural like I ought to be. There is no purging or sickness in their action, and they are different from anything I ever used. Their results in my case proved to me that they are in a class by themselves."

"A medicine has got to have merit, and a whole lot of it, to build a man back up, and give him the new strength and vigor that Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills have given me."

The above statement was recently made by S. A. Legg, of Hill street, Inman yards, Atlanta. Mr. Legg has been boiler inspector for the Southern railway for fourteen years, is a member of Atlanta Local No. 2, Boiler-makers Union of America, and is well-known and liked in the community in which he lives.

The Sargon representative can be found at Jacobs main store, 6 and 8 Marietta street, where hundreds call daily to learn more about this remarkable medicine. Sargon is also sold by the other Jacobs stores all over Atlanta.—(adv.)

Mme. Sun-Yat-Sen Will Attend Burial Of Husband in China

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Madame Sun-Yat-Sen, graduate of Wesleyan college, Macon, and widow of the first president of China, has been booked by travel agents for a lecture tour of the south in order to attend the burial of her husband in China.

She already has sailed for the Orient, it was announced Friday at the office of Russell Bridges, her southern booking agent, and has given no indication when she will return to the United States. The body of her late husband, who died a number of months ago, has been held in a special vault according to Chinese custom, Mr. Bridges said.

Madame Sun-Yat-Sen made many friends in Georgia and in the south while a student at Wesleyan. Returning to China she took active part in political affairs after her marriage to Dr. Sun-Yat-Sen. She has served on the political, military and central executive committees of the Chinese nationalist party. She has expressed belief that ultimate peace for China lies in the present Chinese revolution.

Her social activities in her country include founding of the Institute for Political Education for Chinese Women.

Cuba Affords Market For Georgia Melons And Textiles, Says Gress

Cuba affords a great and hitherto undeveloped market for Georgia watermelons, peaches and textile products, according to T. R. Gress, assistant attorney-general, who has returned from an official inspection trip of that island made in behalf of the bureau of markets.

Mr. Gress said Cuban people cannot understand why they should be forced to go to New England for cheese, cloth and other textile manufactures in Georgia and to go to South America to obtain peaches, when these products are found much nearer in the state of Georgia. Plans to develop this trade territory will be worked out by the bureau of markets, according to Mr. Gress.

Jack Dempsey World's Heavyweight Champ, Says Muldoon

Ex-Champion Outstanding Among Group

Veteran Ring Official Says Press and Public Should Recognize Old Mauler.

New York, January 4.—(Special.) Boxing Commissioner William Muldoon said this afternoon that, in his opinion, Jack Dempsey is the outstanding heavyweight boxer, and should be proclaimed champion, if it is judged that public opinion coincides with this view.

Muldoon's name appears with that of Gene Tunney on the heavyweight trophy which was Tunney's legacy to boxing when he retired last summer. Muldoon also is one of the committee to which the selection of a champion was left by Tunney.

Asked what kind of a showing he thought Dempsey would make in his next fight if he does box again, Muldoon said he believed that the Manassa mauler would put up one of the best battles of his career.

Scores Chicago Count.

Muldoon also took a fall out of the way the knockdown count rule was enforced in the seventh round of the second Tunney-Dempsey fight, and it is clear that a doubt exists in his mind whether Tunney would have escaped defeat had the original purpose of the rule been observed.

"I was not present at the Chicago fight between Tunney and Dempsey," said the commissioner, "but I have seen the pictures of it and am familiar with what took place."

"I am the one who originated the rule which requires the boxer scoring a knockdown to go to the farthest corner and stay there until the fallen boxer is on his feet. The purpose was to prevent repetitions of what happened at Toledo, when Dempsey stood so close to big Willard that he knocked him down five times without even moving his feet, hitting him as soon as Willard's hands and knees were off the floor. Dempsey did much the same thing in his fight with Firpo."

Reason for Rule.

"The rule provides that the first lurch of the referee when a knockdown occurs is to see that the man scoring goes to the farthest corner. When that has been done he is to pick up the count of the timekeeper. The referee is not to start a new count, as was done at Chicago, thus giving the man knocked down more than ten seconds in which to recover. The idea of having the timekeeper count is that the referee may pick up the count at the proper time."

"Now what would have happened at Chicago if the referee had picked up the count instead of starting a new one? Tunney might have been able to escape and he might not. There always will be a doubt about that. Possibly Dempsey would have won the championship back at that time with the proper observance of the knockdown rule."

"The men in Dempsey's corner were of no use to him that night. He has been very badly trained and poorly seconded in all his fights. He should have been instructed what to do if he scored a knockdown. His chief second should have told him that if he landed a knockdown punch he should listen for that second's voice. He should have been instructed to stand up, and stand up. Seconds are supposed to be cool and collected. That's often a joke. Look at Jack Kearns. Why, when Dempsey boxed against Little Carpenter in Jersey City it was a question whether or not Kearns would collapse before the fight was over, so nervous was he. And everybody knows how helpless Kearns was at the Dempsey-Firpo fight."

"The reason Dempsey was so weak after knocking Tunney down at Chicago was that he was trained all wrong. They worked him so hard he had nothing left. He should have been trained for speed."

"In the old days fighters sometimes trained as hard as Dempsey was, but they had enough to come through it. Dempsey is of a nervous disposition, and he had no store of nerve energy when they got through with him."

"How long do you think Dempsey can continue fighting and be good at it?"

"How old is he now? Thirty-three. Well, that certainly is not too old. I believe when he fights again, if he is properly trained, he will put up one of the greatest battles of his career."

The SPORTRIGHT

A GOOD OFFENSE IS.

Those who have never believed that a slashing offense is the best defense and the rest of it rolled together, should inspect at close quarters the standard antics of Ace Hudkins, sometimes known and referred to as "The Nebraska Wildcat."

To Hudkins, a rip-roaring offense is 100 per cent of the work—including all the minor details. If you tie his hands and arms up he'll lead with his chin or either ear, but you can't stop him leading. There are opponents who can outbox him and outlast him, who are just as smart and just as game, but they are too busy trying to keep from getting clawed to death to use their various talents. It would have been a great sight to have seen Hudkins and Harry Greb in the same ring, but the intermission between rounds would have demanded an extension. No two referees could have disentangled them in the minute's respite now allowed.

Hudkins may not be the world's greatest fighter around the middle-weight limit, but he is at least the hardest to discourage. Which isn't a bad talent to carry around, whatever the game.

Soothing the Savage Old Grad Breasts.
Dear Sir: Stop me if you aren't interested. I have been a football fan for the last 20 years, attending games everywhere save on the Pacific coast and in the south. The games have been good, bad and indifferent, but I always manage to get a kick from the cheering and particularly from the college bands. It seems to me the middle west has it all over the east in quantity and quality of musicians, which is not to be wondered at when you consider that universities like Minnesota, Illinois and Michigan boast enrollments five or six times as large as Yale, Harvard or Princeton. Nothing gives me a greater thrill than the sight and sound of a Minnesota, Wisconsin or Illinois cheering section singing its "Alma Mater," accompanied by bands as big and almost as competent as Sousa's. Michigan has a whole of a band and a whole of a "hymn." "The Yellow and the Blue," but the tune was borrowed from Mr. Balfe, who wrote "The Bohemian Girl." I prefer melodies composed by the students themselves. Hence, my leaning toward Illinois "Loyalty" and the two great songs (apiece) that belong to Minnesota and Wisconsin. Louis Elbel, a student at Michigan in 1898, wrote the words and music of "The Victors," dedicated to the triumphant team on which Neil Snow played as a freshman. It is a swell song, but more of a march than a hymn. So is "Loyalty," for that matter. The Navy has a good one—the one Rutgers.

Tunney Declares He's Through

Rome, January 4.—(AP)—Gene Tunney has "definitely and decidedly retired," he said today, and any stories circulated to create a contrary idea are entirely without foundation.

The former heavyweight champion, in response to an inquiry from the Associated Press, replied today:

"I prefer to completely ignore any story of my coming back since it is palpably a press agent yarn. But if you must have, reply it is that I have definitely and decidedly retired."

Tunney and his bride are sojourning at Brioni, an Adriatic resort, but expect to visit Rome later in the winter.

Doctor Opposes Women's Olympics

New York, January 4.—(AP)—Dr. Frederick Rand Rogers, New York state director of health and physical education, told the women's division of the Amateur Athletic federation today that he and his department would support them in their opposition to girls' participation in the 1932 Olympic games.

One of the principal reasons he advanced for his stand was his belief that participating in competitive sports destroyed a woman's beauty. He said he thought women ought to do all they could to make themselves beautiful and he approved powder and rouge. But when woman becomes "manly," asserted Dr. Rogers, she takes a step downward.

"I am strongly in favor of games for girls," he told more than 100 women college and high school physical directors here for the federation convention, "but I am just as strongly opposed to the competitive spirit."

"Competition always tends to destroy beauty. Women in competition, or in competitive games, lose that which is beautiful."

Max Schmeling Beats Joe Sekyra

New York, January 4.—(AP)—Max Schmeling, black-browed, German youngster, who bears a marked physical and faint fighting resemblance to Jack Dempsey, gave Joe Sekyra, blonde Dayton heavyweight, a thorough ten-round trouncing tonight in the main bout at Madison Square garden. Sekyra weighed 170, Schmeling 184 1-2.

Schmeling, fighting for just the second time in America, treated the mid-westerner to a boxing lesson, outgeneraled him in every round and did everything but knock him out. Sekyra kept his feet throughout, but was reeling and badly battered at the close.

Rapidly becoming the current sensation of the heavyweights, Schmeling drew steady applause from the 15,351 persons who gathered for the show as he wore in even shifter, more elusive style than the former heavyweight champion.

Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, who retired two years ago as a middleweight champion, won the decision over Johnny Dundee, former featherweight titleholder, in a slashing ten-round match. Dundee had sought the match in a desire to prove that despite his age and 18 years in the ring, he still was able to cope with the topnotchers. He failed, but not by much.

Al Espinosa Ties Dutra for Lead

Chula Vista, Calif., January 4.—(AP) East and west shared honors in the first 18 holes of qualifying play of the $2,500 San Diego open tournament here today, when Al Espinosa, of Chicago, and Max Dutra, of Tacoma, Wash., deadlocked at 68 for the leadership of the large field.

with "anchors aweigh" in the next to the last line, but I don't know whether the tune was composed by an Annapolis man or lifted from the classics. Amherst was fortunate in possessing J. S. Hamilton, '06, who turned out the famous "Lord Jeffery" number. Its rival, Williams, owns one that is possible, but not merely as catchy as Mr. Hamilton's.

Now then, why don't Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Cornell, etc., page a few composers, instead of always asking Santa to bring them a triple-threat halfback? Princeton's songs may belong to Princeton, but nobody hearing them the first time is likely to go home and whistle them to the madam. Cornell's tune is beautiful but was born "Annie Lisle," and never intended to inspire or comfort what is referred to (laughingly in recent years) as the Big Red Team. "Fair Harvard" is "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and the Army is using Rudolph Friml's vagabond number. As for Yale, well, I'll never forget the shock I received in 1919, right after the war, when half of Eli's sons stood up, uncovered their heads and tore into "Die Wacht am Rhein."

In other, and not nearly so many words, I don't care who makes a college's touchdowns if it writes its own stuff.

ORPHEUS.
P. S. "Peewee" Byers, a saxophone player at the University of Illinois, and George Olsen, a drum major at Michigan, now have their own orchestras in New York and are probably making more money and giving enjoyment to a greater number of people than any band salesman who used to punt, pass or run for dear old Rutgers.

Gene Sarazen Leading Pack In Miami Play

Jock Hutchinson Is Two Strokes Behind; Farrell Lands in Fifth Place.

Miami, Fla., January 4.—(AP)—Gene Sarazen is still leading the pack on the Miami golf courses. The brilliant little shotmaker from New York, winner of the Miami and Miami Beach opens last year, turned in two cards of 73 today at the municipal links to lead the field by two strokes in the first 36 holes of the annual Miami open.

Close behind Gene were Jock Hutchinson, who led the field at noon, and Charley Mayo, Jacksonville pro, each with 148 for the two rounds. George Christ turned in a nice 149 and Joe Turnesa, young New York Italian pro, had 150.

Johnny Farrell, national open champion, starts tomorrow morning's round five strokes back of Sarazen. Johnny was playing good golf but his putts wouldn't drop and he had to take 151. Massie Miller, hustling little Norwich, Conn., pro, was clicking them all day long and had a card of 152 to match Farrell.

Up in the higher scores were the rest of the field, following a day of high winds, showers and fading hopes. There was many a headache as many a well-meaning driver soared into the air, faded with the wind and nestled in yawning sand traps. There was many a sigh as putts sauntered to the can, looped around and stayed out. And to cap the climax of a hectic day, Willie Klein, of the La Gorce course at Miami Beach, hooked a lovely drive off the second tee in the afternoon and it dropped into the top of a cabbage palm and never did come down.

The greatest change on form came to Harry Hampton, Key West pro, who had a 68 Thursday afternoon, turned in a 74 this morning, had a 37 on the first nine after lunch, then Harry shot the last nine in 45, ruining a day that promised much.

It was the field against Sarazen, as is usual in Miami tournaments. There was a hope that Mike Brady would give Gene a run, but Mike got into trouble the first thing in the high winds and turned in a 41 for the first nine. Jock Hutchinson got a fine 37 on the first nine and 35 coming in. This was better than Gene was able to do. Joe Turnesa turned in 73 in the morning to tie Sarazen. Farrell was three strokes back of Turnesa.

Bell Is Signed By Texas Aggies

College Station, Texas, January 4.—(AP)—Coach Matty Bell, of Texas Christian university, Fort Worth, Texas, today was appointed head football coach at Texas A. & M. college, succeeding Dana X. Bible, who has resigned to go to Nebraska university.

Bell has been coach at Texas Christian university for the last six years. He expressed regret at leaving T. C. U., but said: "Texas A. & M. with its consistently stronger teams, offers more opportunity for advancement to a young coach."

He will take over his duties here next fall.

R. J. SPILLER MAY PURCHASE SAVANNAH CLUB

Savannah, Ga., January 4.—(AP)—En route to Florida and Cuba for a vacation, R. J. Spiller, owner of the Atlanta Crackers in the Southern association, stopped here yesterday looking over the baseball situation with a view to taking over the local club next season.

The Atlanta magnate said he was considering a plan whereby he would place T. M. "Bud" San Antonio, Texas, in charge of the club here, with assistance from his Atlanta organization. Savannah and Albany were forced to withdraw from the Southeastern league race last year because of financial difficulties.

Strib Will Box Stone Next Week

Durham, N. C., January 4.—(AP)—W. L. (Young) Stribling will fight Tommie Stone, Detroit, 160-pounder, here Wednesday night.

The announcement that Stribling would fight here before his bout at Miami Beach with Sharkey was made by George Braum, promoter, who said that final arrangements have been completed for the bout.

Add Warren, University of North Carolina boxer who is out of the ring with a broken arm, has accepted an invitation from Braum to referee the main bout. In the semi-final K. O. Conway, of Durham, will meet Bobby Michaels. The men will fight as lightweights though Conway is a welter. There will be three other bouts.

Ohio Man Says Everything He Ate Seemed To Disagree With Him--Praises Black-Draught For Relief.

Buena Vista, Ohio.—"I was always in good health until the last few years," says John C. Malone, of this place. "I began to suffer with headache and biliousness."

"I had a hurting through the middle part of my body which seemed to come from indigestion. I would get constipated, and then feel all out of sorts."

"I would get up in the morning feeling dizzy, and everything I ate would disagree with me. I used to complain when I had a spell like this."

"Some one asked me why I did not try Black-Draught. I got a box of it because my friend told me, and I found it to be just the medicine I needed. I never take anything else."

"When I feel a spell coming on, I begin by taking a dose of Black-Draught, dry, at night. I continue to take it for several days, diminishing the dose each night, and in a short while I am feeling fine. It is all the medicine I need. I recommend it to others, for I have found it splendid."

Black-Draught is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, of highest quality, carefully combined and packaged by automatic machinery.

Easy to take—no disagreeable after-effects.

COURTLAND STREET WIDENING, GRADING WORK IS STARTED

Fulton county forces have begun the widening and grading of Courtland street from Forrest to North avenue preparatory to the repaving of the street. It was announced Friday at the department of public works.

Trees are being cut so that the street may be widened 10 feet on each side. The thoroughfare, when the work is completed, will afford a 70-foot boulevard to relieve Piedmont avenue and Peachtree street of heavy traffic.

The county is to do the widening, fill the hollow, build the retaining walls and set the curb, while the paving is to be done under the baby bond plan. The county's share of the work will be completed about March 1, when the repaving of the street will be started.

Lord Greystoke and his wife stood bravely, silently watching. And behind them, over the edge of a low ridge, other eyes WATCHED THEM—close-set, wicked eyes, gleaming beneath shaggy brows!

FARMER BROWN'S BOY UNDERSTANDS.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Say not a thing can never be; Still stranger things you'll live to see.—Old Mother Nature.

Farmers Brown's boy kept an eye on Peter Rabbit, taking care not to make any sudden movements to alarm Peter. He was delighted to have this visit in the barn, but how Peter got in there continued to puzzle him. You see, in such cold weather, the doors of the barn were kept closed. That is what made it all such a mystery. He was still thinking about this when his attention was called to a scurrying of feet. He turned just in time to see Peter disappear under the hay and Black Pussy the Cat stop just outside. Black Pussy's yellow eyes gleamed with excitement as she crouched with black tail twitching back and forth, back and forth.

"Hello, puss!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's boy. "Where did you come from? I thought I left you at the house. Now you just get away from there. That wasn't a rat. That was Peter Rabbit and I can't have you scaring Peter."

Black Pussy didn't even so much as look at Farmer Brown's boy. He finally had to go over and drive her away. She ran up into the haymow and there she disappeared.

"I shall have to keep an eye out for Black Pussy," thought Farmer Brown's boy. "I don't think she would undertake to kill a full-grown rabbit, but she might if I let her do anything happen to Peter for the world."

Farmers Brown's boy tried to find Black Pussy and put her out of the barn, but finally had to give it up. He had a lot of work to do that morning out there in the barn. There were two or three barrels of apples to be picked over. He just couldn't waste time after a while he became so tired he absorbed in his work that he forgot all about Peter Rabbit and Black Pussy. He forgot all about them until the sound of scurrying feet caught his attention again. He looked up just in time to see Black Pussy chasing Peter across the barn floor. This time Peter didn't head for that hole under the hay. Black Pussy had managed to steal down from the haymow and get between Peter and the hay. She was stealing up on Peter a step at a time when Peter discovered her. Away he went, Black Pussy right after him. It was then that Farmer Brown's boy looked up. Black Pussy was hard after Peter.

"I shall have to keep an eye out for Black Pussy," thought Farmer Brown's boy. "I don't think she would undertake to kill a full-grown rabbit, but she might if I let her do anything happen to Peter for the world."

Black Pussy was hard after Peter. like him to come into a strange place like this. I wonder if he'll come back again?"

Peter had no adventure in getting back to the den. He ran quickly and found little Mrs. Peter anxiously looking out across the snow-covered Green Meadows. "Oh, Peter," she cried, "where have you been? I've been worried nearly to death."

"Pooh!" exclaimed Peter. "You should never worry about me. You remember what Reddy Fox told us about the good things up at Farmer Brown's barn? Well, it was all true. I've had the most wonderful feast, my dear. You must go up there with me."

"I'll do nothing of the kind," declared little Mrs. Peter crossly. "I have a little sense, which is more than you have, Peter Rabbit. One of these days you'll take one too many chances and not come back."

EVANSTON, ILL., CHURCH WOMAN RALLIES FAST CANNOT FIRE PASTOR AS MANY OFFER BLOOD

Evanston, Ill., January 4.—(AP)—For 20 weeks the negro congregation of the Mount Zion Baptist church has tried with no success to discharge its pastor, the Rev. G. A. Long.

Week after week the church members have given him notice, and Sunday after Sunday the pastor has continued to preach, as though nothing had happened.

Every time a church meeting is held to take action, the congregation states in a bill for injunction filed in circuit court, Long presides and refuses to entertain any motion opposing his continued occupation of the pulpit.

The bill asks that Long be enjoined from entering the church.

NURSE WHO SPENT 25 YEARS IN AIDING THE SICK IS DEAD

New Orleans, January 4.—(AP)—After 25 years of service to the sick and distressed, Miss Agnes Despit, director of the Gulf division of the American Red Cross nursing service, died here today from pneumonia. The disease was an aftermath of influenza contracted several weeks ago while Miss Despit was nursing influenza patients.

Miss Despit, a former president of the Louisiana Nurses association, was graduated from the nursing school of Touros infirmary at the beginning of her nursing service.

Physicians tonight believed Mrs. H. Jones, 22-year-old mother, would recover following their success today in cauterizing a ruptured blood vessel in her nose.

Staunching of the nose bleed came in one final desperate attempt to save the young woman's life which had been slowly ebbing since last Sunday when the rupture occurred. So critical had her condition become late yesterday that her physicians appealed through newspapers for volunteers to submit to blood transfusion. No sooner had the editions reached the streets than the hospital was besieged by persons with offers to submit to the transfusion.

Fifteen were given blood tests and a pint of blood was taken from W. H. Screws, city fireman. Following the transfusion Mrs. Jones rallied but quickly became weaker as the flow continued.

With their patient rapidly losing strength and death considered only a matter of hours, the physicians were preparing for another transfusion when Dr. Henry Martin announced that he had located the puzzling rupture and succeeded in closing it.

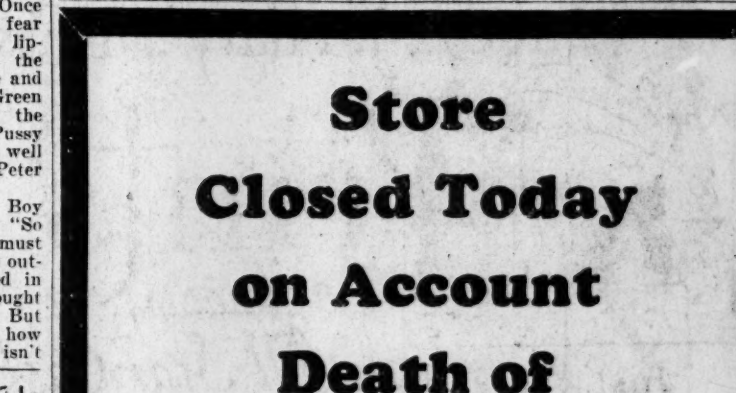

Another transfusion will be made tomorrow, Dr. Martin said.

At the woman's bedside throughout the fight has been her husband, who was rejected in early hour tests for the transfusion, and nearby in a tiny crib the couple's two-week-old daughter.

SPECTACULAR GAS FIRE NEAR TULSA FED BY BIG WELL

Tulsa, Okla., January 4.—(AP)—A spectacular fire fed by gas flowing at a rate of 75,000,000 cubic feet in 24 hours was burning today at a Carter Oil company well in the Little River section of the greater Seminole oil producing area in central Oklahoma.

The well caught fire when it blew in unexpectedly while being drilled to a depth of 4,202 feet.

Gas was breaking through the ground around the well, as well as escaping from the casing and the mass of flames offered a serious handicap to firefighters in their efforts to bring the gaseous under control.

TWO BATTLESHIPS LEAVE BROOKLYN FOR MANEUVERS

New York, January 4.—(AP)—The battleships Wyoming and Arkansas and the cruisers Cincinnati and Richmond left the Brooklyn navy yard today for Yorktown, Va., on the first leg of a cruise to Guantanamo bay, for annual winter battle maneuvers.

A fleet of ten destroyers left yesterday accompanied by the destroyer tender Dobbin. They, with the giant submarine V-5, which was also assigned for the maneuvers, will participate in sham battles, smoke screen tests and target practice.

The Problem of the Bandits Torn Note.

NUMBER 4.

This is a simple problem which will serve to prepare for more complicated mysteries to come.

Early in the evening of August 4, 1927, the Chicago police received a tip through the underworld that "Red" Sam Gunther, long suspected as the leader of a band of bank robbers, could be found in the vicinity of a deserted cabin on the outskirts of the city. The stool pigeon's information proved to be correct; Gunther was present at the rendezvous with startling success.

Had you been there as a detective, what would you have deduced? The questions to be answered are:

1. Where did the gang plan to meet?
2. When?

Editor's Note.

ther was surrounded by plainclothes police and was fatally shot as he was about to open fire on his captors. When surprised, Gunther had just drawn a scrap of paper from his pocket and was in the act of reading it. At the first demand for surrender from the cordon closing in on him, Gunther was seen to jump back, tear the note into fragments and thrust them in his mouth as he drew his automatic pistol. Two detectives fired and the bandit chief collapsed, but not before he had managed to destroy parts of the paper. All but two fragments were chewed beyond legibility. These are shown here. The detectives reconstructed them in order to ascertain the message which Gunther had deemed so important.

From these fragments the Chicago police were able to deduce the time and place of what proved to be a meeting of the gang. Gunther's death was kept secret, and the police

ARK. GOVERNOR HONORS JEFFERSON BY PLACING WREATH

Charlotteville, Va., January 4.—(AP)—Pausing briefly on their search through the southeast for information on how to develop industries, the Arkansas legislature and state officials today visited historic Monticello, near here, where Governor Harvey Parrell placed a wreath on the grave of Thomas Jefferson.

The placing of the wreath was the only ceremony arranged for the visit to the tomb of the founder of democracy.

This followed a visit by the Arkansians to the University of Virginia, accompanied by Dr. E. A. Alderman, who has been its president for 25 years, and to what are said to be the oldest woolen mills in America located near here. After this the industrial special left for Richmond, where a reception by Governor Harry F. Byrd, a brother of the famous flier, Commander Richard E. Byrd, awaited the party.

Poems That Live

MEETING AT NIGHT

THE gray sea, and the long black land;
And the yellow half-moon large and low;
And the startled little waves that leap
In fiery ringlets from their sleep
As I gain the cove with pushing prow,
And quench its speed in the slushy sand.

Then a mile of warm sea-scented beach;
Three fields to cross till a farm appears;
A tap at the pane, the quick sharp scratch
And blue spirit of a lighted match,
And a voice less loud, through its joys and fears,
That the two hearts beating each to each!

New York, January 4.—(AP)—

Renewal of liquidation on the cotton market and some southern selling promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of a less active trade demand today followed yesterday's advances. March contracts declined to 19.78 in the late trading, and 27 points net lower, and closed at 19.83, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 19 to 24 points.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 9 points, with the more active months showing net losses of about 5 to 6 points during the first ten minutes under realizing and in sympathy with the failure of Liverpool to fully meet yesterday's local advances. These initial offerings were rather readily absorbed by the demand brought in by the firmer ruling of yesterday's market, and reports that if cotton held steady a considerable business was expected in cotton goods.

Prices recovered to about a shade over yesterday's closing quotations during the early trading, but the trade buying, which had been one of the features yesterday, was much less active and the market again declined during the middle of the day under renewed liquidation.

Reports of a slightly easier basis in the southwest may have contributed to the selling, but there were also reports of a steeper basis in the east. According to some local brokers the movement was more of an adjustment in the technical position than a response to any particular feature in the day's news. January declined to 19.75, while May sold off to 19.84 and July to 19.88, making net declines of 22 to 27 points. The close was a few points up from the lowest on covering. There was not much change in the differences between the old and new style October contracts, the latter being 13 points under the old October at the close. The government report on grades and staple of cotton ginned during the week-end was not generally referred to as an immediate market factor. The week-end figures were considered about a stand-off.

MARK T AT CLOSE

OFF 20 TO 24 POINTS.

New Orleans, January 4.—(AP)—The cotton market developed a reactionary tendency today and lost more than half of yesterday's sharp gain. The main depressing influences today were the bearish weekly statistics and liquidation by recent buyers. March contracts declined gradually to 19.13 or 30 points net down, but rallied a few points in final trading and closed at 19.20 or 23 points lower for the day. The general market closed steady at net declines of 20 to 24 points.

Liverpool cables were 3 to 5 points lower than the day and first trading showed losses of 3 to 9 points in sympathy. The execution of some overnight buying orders caused the market to rally practically to yesterday's closing levels, but the initial demand was not aggressive and soon gave way under offerings promoted by liquidation.

of the day was the announcement of the unification plan for Radio Corporation and Victor Talking Machine Company, which had long been expected and is counted as a market factor. It provides for a 5-for-1 split up of Radio Common, Columbia and Electric Records also recommended a stock split-up, of 2-1/2 for 1.

Motor shares were again heavy, which was attributed to rather widespread disappointment that the expected pre-automobile show bill movement had failed to make headway. General Motors, however, fell more than 6 points, and Chrysler more than 2. Pierce Arrow shares broke into new high ground, however, on announcement of a new straight-eight.

International Metal Up.

International Nickel certificates shot up 40 points to a record price at $25, and the New Nickel Ltd. shares reached new high ground. Kennecott Copper, Miami and Anaconda made new highs, while Calumet and Arizona jumped more than 6 points.

National Amalgamated Copper, an extreme gain of 15 points, and Case Threshing closed about 15 higher.

In the grain market, wheat advanced more than 4 points, influenced rather by its revived earning power than by merger prospects.

Ohio and Pennsylvania broke into new high ground, and New York Central forged ahead nearly 4 points.

Gas advanced 2 points to a new high, and Philadelphia Gas jumped 10 points. After selling down more than five points, General Electric rebounded to 102 1/2.

Radio fluctuated widely, selling off 9 points, up nearly 3, and closing down 2. Victor pushed up 6 points.

Automotive stocks were Abraham and Straub, Goodyear, Johns-Manville, Macy & Co., and Western Union, which closed about 4 to 5 points down.

Several stocks, such as Steel and American Telephone, sagged about a point.

Commodities were generally heavy, cotton and grain receding slightly.
